THE MILWAUKEE ROAD

TO GET RID OF STOMACH TROUBLES

An English Doctor writes:—

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after most of my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

(Signed) Dr. H. G. M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

THE English doctor is the most conservative medical man in the world, and when he not only recommends but personally uses a remedy there can be no more convincing proof of its efficacy. This doctor is but one of many who constantly advise the use of "Bisurated" Magnesia in all cases of indigestion. Most stomach trouble is caused by acidity, and the reason why "Bisurated" Magnesia gives quick relief is that it instantly neutralises excess acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. Nothing could be simpler, safer or surer. If you suffer with indigestion or stomach disorder of any kind put your faith in European science and make an end of your troubles by taking "Bisurated" Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt.

KEEN SPORT AT RACES

CLOSE FINISHES FEATURE MEETING

Mr. H. M. Pih's First Win

Close and exciting finishes featured the Eighth Extra Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club which was held on Saturday, in warm and sunny weather. There was a good attendance present which included His Excellency, the Governor of Hong Kong, Sir Andrew Caldecott and Lady Caldecott, who were accompanied by Captain. W.J.R. Cragg, A.D.C.

Perhaps the biggest surprise of the day was the win recorded by King's Bounty in the second race on the programme, when lucky punters were rewarded $81.30 for their foresight. This was the largest winning dividend paid. The Hero, who ran splendidly in the last meeting to pay $100.30 for a win, was again ignored, with the result that he paid $52.60 for a third place in the Canberra Handicap.

L. G. FROST TAKEN ILL

The meeting was somewhat marred by the inability of Mr. L.G. Frost to take part in the racing after his first start. He was reported to have felt ill and did not feel fit to continue in the meet. Mr. H. M. Pih recorded his first victory at the Valley when he rode a well judged race to bring in King's Bounty in the Kiangsi Handicap.

No really startling dividends were paid, but the sport seen was keen and wholesome. The Daily Double only paid $32.90.

During the afternoon, the band of the 2nd. Battalion, the East Lancashire Regiment, by kind permission of Lt. Col. A.C. Marsh and officers, rendered varied selections.

DOUBLE TENTH PLATE

Onk Bay started off on her own and had to be turned back. She was restless, but Frost managed her without difficulty. To a flying start Onk Bay got into an early lead followed by Herod and Honey-moon Eve. At the Rock, L.G. Frost's mount led by so convincing a margin that it seemed impossible for the rest of the field to catch up. On the home stretch however, Diana Bay came up with a magnificent spurt and opposite the stands electrified everyone with yet another spurt to nose out Soldier of Britain and Oak Bay. Soldier of Britain had the public's confidence but although it ran well to beat Oak Bay into the second place, it did not look like catching the winner.

KIANGSI HANDICAP (FIRST SECTION)

A large field faced the starter in this race. From a standing start King's Bounty leap into the lead followed by Boolat Bay and Ribble. Pih kept his mount in the lead and going into the stretch opposite the stands, Ribble (P. P. Botelho) make a magnificent effort but was beaten by a head. Bistre came in third after a well judged race by Choy Wing Chiu. At the start Bright View overran the barrier and delayed the start. This race incidentally was the first success gathered by H.M. Pih at the Valley.

CANBERRA HANDICAP

This long race for Australian ponies saw Saucy Face get off to a lead with Bodniak Star and Bag Tor next in order. At the Rock, Electron lay second, running strongly. Opposite the stands Electron spurred forward and won at ease. Vixen Tor came up strongly and dead heated with Bodniak Star for second place.

SUB-GRIFFINS AUTUMN PLATE

In the one and a quarter mile race, the first time round, Balios led from Mountain View and Ocean View. At the Rock, Wild Cat lay third while Rose Evelyn improved her position. In the home stretch Wild Cat lengthened her stride to win by a length from Gold Sovereign and The Hero. The last mentioned was a gallant third and paid $52.60 to those who had confidence in its ability. This follows a dividend of $100.30 for a win at the last meeting.

HUNAN HANDICAP

The Novices' Race attracted a large field. The race commenced from the two mile post, once round and in. Past the stand on the first circuit was Cavalcade in the lead with Burgomaster and Pride of Tsingtao on its heels. At the Rock, Cavalcade led Pride of Tsingtao, with Wadebridge next, having come up strongly. In the last furlong, Pride of Tsingtao Night View, and Gold Coin fought for first place. Night View, with superior staying powers, won.

KWANGSI HANDICAP

King's Fancy led from the start and up the incline, but in the home straight, it fell lamentably behind. The ponies were well bunched and in the last furlong Bear

Claw led by two lengths, running well. Past the stand Rose Queen challenged strongly. It looked as if she would win but there appeared to be some bumping between these two ponies, and Rose Queen failed by a short head. When the winning jockeys rode to the weighing room, it was seen that N. Dietz was not riding his mount. Rose Queen was led past without its jockey. Dietz walked to the weighing room assisted by two friends. He was limping badly.

KATOOMBA HANDICAP

Ranger got off with Snowy River, Violet Queen, and Perfect Day following. Up the incline Violet Queen had snatched the lead with Ranger and Snowy River in a threatening position. In the straight Ranger came forward and Botelho on Snowy River which had fallen back, rode the race of his life to bring his mount amongst the placed runners. Centre Court annexed the second place.

KIANGSI HANDICAP (SECOND SECTION)

Twelve ponies faced the starter in the final race of the day, which saw Tyne in an early lead. Mr. Ip Kiu Ying set a hot pace and at the half mile post enjoyed a comfortable lead. However near the Rock, the rest of the field headed by Ythan, Victoria Hall, and Amberley temporarily came into the picture. In the home stretch, Valorous came forward followed by Royal Highness and High Honour. In the last 100 yards Royal Highness spurred forward to win an exciting race by a short head from High Honour, with Valorous a game third.

JUDICIAL SERVICE AT THE CATHEDRAL.

Governor, Chief Justice And Police Chief Attend

MANY LAWYERS AND POLICE OFFICERS PRESENT

The annual Judicial Service, attended by members of the legal profession and the Police Force, was held at St. John's Cathedral yesterday morning, a full congregation being present. The Rev. H. W. Baines conducted the service, which was featured with special hymns, and delivered an interesting sermon.

Among those who attended were His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, and Lady Caldecott, accompanied by Capt. W. J. R. Cragg, A.D.C., and Mr. H. J. Crutwell, Private Secretary, His Honour the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, who has recovered from his recent illness, and Lady MacGregor, R.E. Major General A. W. Bartholomew, G.O.C., and Mrs. Bartholomew, Mr. Justice J. A. Fraser, Acting Police Judge, Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, Attorney General, Mr. Alabaster and Miss Alabaster, Mr. E. H. Williams, Assistant Attorney General, and Mrs. Williams, Hon. Mr. T. H. King, Inspector General of Police, Mrs. King and the Misses King.

A detachment of 40 European police inspectors, Sergeants and Constables, under Mr. K. E. Blidmead, A.S.P., and Chief Inspector R. H. E. Marks, also attended.

Others present included the Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Mr. W. N. Thomas and Mrs. Tam, Mr. George She, Mr. Harold W. Lee, Mr. Hin Shing Lo, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Hazlerigg, Mr. J. B. Prentis, Mr. J. P. Murphy, Mr. E. H. P. Lang, Mr. D. McCallum, Mr. D. L. Strellet, Mr. S. Ng Quinn, Mr. W. M. Brown, Mr. P. S. Cassidy, Mr. H. H. Priestley, Mr. W. Schofield (First Magistrate), Mr. W. Keith Robinson, Mr. D. Brittain Evans, Mr. F. G. Nigel, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Elston, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins.

Mr. C. G. Perdue, Deputy Inspector General of Police, and Mrs. Perdue, Mr. T. Murphy, A.D.C.I., Mr. W. P. Thompson, A.S.P. and Mrs. Wilson.

JUDGE ROBED

Sir Atholl MacGregor, fully robed and wearing full-bottomed wig, arrived shortly before the commencement of the service. Together with the Inspector General of Police, who wore full uniform, his Lordship, proceeded to his seat accompanied by Mr. Cassidy and Mr. Priestley.

The service opened with the processional hymn, "New Every Morning is the Love" following which morning prayer was read. The anthem, "Immortal Invisible" (Hymn) was rendered by the choir. Following the sermon, the hymn "Fight the Good Fight" was sung and immediately afterwards the congregation joined in the singing of the National Anthem. The service concluded with the recessional hymn, "For All The Saints."

THE SERMON

The Rev. Mr. Baines said:—Our modern cartoonists have made us familiar with the man in the street. Everybody knows Strube's Little Man and most of us recognise ourselves in his figure with its queer mixture of fun and pathos and dignity. Will you this morning for a few moments divest yourselves of your seniority and recognise yourselves as the Little Man; then I think we shall understand each other better.

In the Little Man's mind I think it may be said without irreverence that the Police, the legal profession and the judiciary occupy very much the same position which he also gives to God. The Police are his friends to whom he turns when he wants to know the way; they shepherd his children across the road; he has only to whistle when he is in danger and they will risk their lives for his own. Again the family solicitor is as indispensable and as familiar a friend as the family doctor and is always called in at the most important and personal moments in our lives. So too the Little Man looks upon the Law and its officers as the impartial arbiters of his disputes, the appointed authorities to secure fair play for him. Not only so but when things go wrong and the Little Man petulantly asks why "they" have not done something about it and "what are the authorities thinking about?" it is seldom possible to distinguish whether he is invoking a human or a divine authority. And this remarkable comparison brings me to the first point that I think should be made, namely that upon the three bodies that I have mentioned lies the great responsibility of largely conditioning the way in which the Little Man thinks about

God; and I suppose that this is particularly true in a Colony when the Little Man may be British or Chinese.

LITTLE MAN'S RIGHTS

There would be no need to remind a congregation composed as ours is this morning that the importance—almost the sacredness—of the Little Man's rights are recognised by our constitution without fear or favour, and are protected by the Law and the Police, except in order to point out that the Little Man owes this position in the first case to Christ and to His Law. The Christian Church is bound to be jealous for every soul for whom Christ died and also to be conscientious in fostering that form of political and social order in which the individual may reach the full stature for which God made him because Our Lord is not an idea but the eternal Word of God made flesh, living as a man in time and space. It is because of this that Christians recognise the divine appointment of the political order and of its servants whether they be Judges, the Law officers or Police. That does not mean that a Christian is required to accept without criticism the state of affairs as it is at the present moment but that he acknowledges the responsibility before God which you carry who are worshipping with us to-day.

You will see, I think, from what I have just said why it is right for this Service to be held. We in the Church cannot but remember the courtesy and consideration which Jesus habitually showed to duly constituted authority however sharply He may have differed from them and although He was brought before them as a criminal, and in the Service we seek to follow His example. And, secondly, in this Service we recognise and honour the public service which you render and ask God's blessing on it and on you.

PEDESTAL OF WISDOM

I suppose it sometimes seems to members of your callings that the Little Man places you on an almost impossible pedestal of wisdom and impartiality and goodness. It certainly is true that our nation has no more valuable possession than the impartial integrity of the judiciary and Police and the absolute discretion of solicitors and barristers because between them they undergird the Little Man in his home; and in British countries we still believe in the Little Man and in his home. So high a calling carries with it correspondingly stern demands and it would be never less than disaster if the protectors of the people lost their integrity.

In speaking of the undergirding of the Little Man in his home I am reminded of the exultant close of Macaulay's Third Chapter:—

"We too shall, in our turn be outstripped, and in our turn be envied. It may well be, in the twentieth century, that the peasant of Dorsetshire may think himself miserably paid with twenty shillings a week; that the carpenter at Greenwich may receive ten shillings a day; that labouring men may be as little used to dine without meat as they now are to eat without bread; that sanitary police and medical discoveries may have added several more years to the aver-

And yet it may then be made to assert that the increase of wealth and the progress of science have benefitted the few at the expense of the many, and to talk of the reign of Queen Victoria as the time when England was truly merry England, when all classes were bound together by brotherly sympathy, when the richer did not grind the faces of the poor and when the poor did not envy the splendour of the rich."

PROPHESY FULFILLED?

Do we perhaps fulfil Macaulay's prophecy to-day? It certainly is true that the bland complacency of fifty years ago was discredited during and since the War and has been succeeded by the recognition that the Little Man's destiny is not within his own grasp but may only be received as a gift from the hands of God. You may be able to protect the Little Man and look after his home; and you may be able to settle his disputes and organise his affairs but it does not lie with you alone to give warmth and strength to his fire, nor to add the understanding of the eternal verities to his children nor to bring forgiveness and healing to him when he is broken and down. Any man in this Colony would need to be blind if he did not see something of how ceaselessly you all toil without pride and without priggishness to redress injustice and to repair wounded and falling spirits but you would be the first to acknowledge that you do this not chiefly by your own will nor even by the high traditions of your callings but by the inspiration of Him Who is the Lord of all and the friend of publicans and sinners.

CATHEDRAL SERMON

Therefore our message to you today is one of gratitude for what you do for us Little Men, recognition of the height of your calling and of its peculiar difficulties and temptations, assurance that it is immensely worth while and belongs to the will of God, and summons to you as to all of us to remember Him before whose judgement seat we all must stand and in whose Name alone is love and salvation to be found.

MASS MARRIAGE CEREMONY

Many Chinese Couples
United

HON. DR. TS'O
OFFICIATES

There was a large crowd present to witness a mass wedding ceremony, which was performed by the Hon. Dr. Tso Seen-Wan, C.B.E., J.P., on Saturday at the Chinese Y.M.C.A., Bridges Street, when twenty-one young couples were united in matrimony.

Not only was the auditorium hall packed to capacity, but the streets outside were crowded, which necessitated having the Emergency Unit of the Hong Kong Police Force in attendance. Members of the 12th Hong Kong Troop, Boy Scouts, and the St. John Ambulance Brigade (Kowloon Division), also lent valuable aid in keeping the crowds in check.

The actual wedding ceremony was brief and unique. As their names were called out, each couple came forward to bow before the officials (The Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso and Mr. David W. K. Au, President of the Chinese Y.M.C.A.). They then bowed to each other before placing rings on each other's fingers. A marriage certificate was next handed "to the happy pair" and they made way for the next couple.

When all twenty-one couples were married, Dr. S. W. Tso congratulated them and in a short address expressed regret at the absence of the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, who was unable to be present.

At the conclusion the procession of the married couples moved into the courtyard for photographs, and this served to increase the crowds on every roof and wall, as they strove to see the assembly of husbands and wives.

Among the guests were:—Mrs. S. W. Tso and Miss Tso Mr. K. P. Ho, Mr. Chiu Kam To, Mr. S. S. Fu, Mr. and Mrs. Hu Pe Kook, Mr. and Mrs. Hu Lap Sam, Mr. Li Kin Hon and Mr. Wong Kwok Fong.

ORDER OF APPEARANCE

The brides and bridegrooms appeared before the Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso in the following order:—
Tam Yit-yue and Miss Hoi-hi-luen, Li Wing-yin, and Miss Leung Yue-hing, Ho Tak-wah and Miss Cheng Ching-lai, Chan Shu-wah and Miss Tam Shou-yung, Cheng Hung-hi and Miss Ng Kwun-ying, Li Wai-hi and Miss Au Shue-ying, Tam Shiu-hi and Miss Yun Sou-yung, Tam Wing-cheung and Miss Ho Yuk-ting, Liu Yau-chee and Miss Li Lai-fun, Wong Lu-kwong and Miss Chung Kwan-yuk, Woo Hi-kwong and Miss Wong Kwok-ling, Chan Chou-hing and Miss Tse Shiu-kin, Lai Ho-chuen and Miss Yan Tak-han, Yun Chun-woo and Miss Siu Fui-hing, Chan Siu-fun and Miss Seto Su-chun, Lum Ngai-chuen and Miss Leung Yin-yue, Yu Chun-ahing and Miss Kwong Siu-kwan, Mak Tung and Miss Ho Li-ying, Lau Kit-shuen and Miss Luk Sheung-pik, Hon Chi-hing and Miss Tam Shue-king and Yung Sair-kai and Miss Loo Shu-hing.

VIEWS ON SOVIET'S
NEW MOVE

Paris, Oct. 9.

The Soviet Russian threat to no longer adhere to the Non-Intervention pact is naturally greeted by the Communist paper "Humanité" as well as by the Socialist organ "Ere Nouvelle". The latter states that the Soviet note provides a justification for those in France that now campaign for a French intervention in Spain.

In a despatch from Geneva the "Petit Parisien" states that Geneva circles ask the question, whether the attempts on non-intervention are a last-minute attempt to save the Spanish Republic, or whether Soviet Russia wants to split Europe into two camps and make the success of the forthcoming Five-Power Conference illusory? The latter theory is favoured in some circles because at the same time the Soviet Union has started another diplomatic action in Geneva in connection with the League Reform. The "Petit Parisien" thinks that if saving the Spanish Republic was the motive, it came much too late. No Socialist or Popular Front army could prevent the fall of the Madrid Government.

"THINGS TO COME"

For the first time in the history of the cinema we are to see a film in which the star does not appear on the screen. The picture is "Things to Come," screened at the King's Theatre to-day, and the "star" is H. G. Wells who wrote the scenario and helped in the work of production.

There are, of course, a number of well-known actors and actresses in the leading roles—including such favourites as Sir Cedric Harwicke, Raymond Massey and Margaretta Scott—but it is the story of "Things to Come" rather than its interpreters, that really matters. Ideas, rather than idols, are what the picture will rely upon for its public appeal.

Here is no fatuous "starring vehicle," with its story written expressly for the purpose of showing off the abilities of some famous actor or actress, but a gripping, epic narrative, conceived by one of the world's literary giants and brought to life by the skilled co-operation of actor, technician, craftsman and artist.

Work on "Things to Come" was begun as long ago as March 1934 although shooting did not begin until the following January.

The picture was originally scheduled to cost £100,000, but it is estimated that the final figure will exceed £250,000, a record for British film production. The earliest shots were made at Elstree, but later the scene of production shifted to Isleworth and Denham. It was at the last-named place that the spectacular air-raid scenes were filmed, and the set-representing "Everytown," a busy city with shops, office and factory buildings—was one of the biggest ever built.

Several scenes were shot on location, the most noteworthy being a battle at Griffin colliery, Blaenau, South Wales, in which hundreds of local unemployed miners took part. A notable feature of "Things to Come" is the music written by Arthur Bliss. This was performed under the composer's baton at a promenade concert at the Queen's Hall last summer and was highly praised by the critics.

"LAST OF THE PAGANS"

"Last of the Pagans," the romance of South Seas native life, filmed in the five months' expedition of Richard Thorpe, director, and his Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer expedition, is now enchanting audiences at the Majestic Theatre.

Saga of native life and a vanishing race, filmed on an uncharted coral island where the native life is as yet untouched by the white man's civilization, the new picture, authored by John Villiers Farrow, who for some years lived among the natives, is a charming native love story, of a boy and girl, separated through the trickery of white traders, and reunited through the heroism of the native warrior.

Mala, the Eskimo hero, is superb as the South Seas warrior, and beautiful Lotus Long makes an ideal heroine. Interesting characters are the native playing the island chief, the mother, and the small boy, Tinee. Clyde De Vinna's photography has the quality of an oil painting.

CINEMAS IN A QUANDARY

British Films Too Few To Meet Quota

Hundreds of British film exhibitors, unable to obtain even half the British pictures required to fulfil the "quota" obligations, are facing legal action when the "quota" year expires shortly.

Independent owners in all parts of Britain are in a state of panic as they find themselves unable to complete the new high schedule which a year ago, was raised to one British film in every five shown.

Numerous appeals for help have been made to the trade body, the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association, but it is unable to offer help. It can only recommend that each exhibitor prepare a case and ask the Board for clemency. In previous years fines have been inflicted varying from £5 to £50.

The cause of this dilemma is the shortage of British films of any calibre. The shortage of adequate quality is, of course, even greater. Approximately 500 foreign films have been registered in Britain during the past year, thus involving a compensating showing of 125 British productions. Perhaps 60 films of good quality have been made by the major British companies, most of which were immediately absorbed by the big circuits.

"QUOTA QUICKIES"

The independent exhibitor is left with the remainder, some of it usable for uncritical audiences, but much of it "made for a song" merely to satisfy quota obligations. The name coined by the trade for these films is "quota quickies."

In previous years a loophole was offered to exhibitors by the fact that the renters' (or middlemen's) quota was higher than the exhibitors', thus leaving him a margin of choice. This year, however, the demand and supply were fixed at the same figure, thus eliminating competition and leaving no margin of choice.

Meanwhile, the Kinematograph Renters' Society is advocating that the quota be raised even further, by gradual stages from 20 to 50 per cent.

The Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association has drawn the attention of the Board of Trade to the situation in its report to the Lord Moyne Committee considering revision of the Films Act, and is advocating that the exhibitors' quota should be decreased to 10 per cent. while the renters' quota should be at least 15, if not 20 per cent.

"Even if we say that 120-125 of the British films made are usable, the ordinary cinema wants 30 or 40 British films a year, and there are five or six cinemas in the average town. Naturally one house does not want to show a film already shown by another," Mr. W. R. Fuller, Secretary of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association stated.

"These figures tell the story. Of course, a reduction of the quota to 10 per cent. does not mean that fewer British pictures will be shown," he added.

DISCLOSURES OF PRISON LIFE

Execution Horrors

Strong criticisms of the English prison system, based on the experiences of a long term of penal servitude, are contained in a remarkable book, "Walls Have Mouths," by Wilfred Macartney, published recently. (Gollancz, 10s. 6d.)

Macartney, a Scotsman, was sentenced in company with a young German, George Hansen, to ten years penal servitude in January, 1928, for espionage on behalf of the Soviet Government. The record of his prison life at Wandsworth and Parkhurst is probably the most detailed and informative document of this character that has yet appeared in this country.

Macartney directs his first attack against executions in prison, which he describes as "foul and monstrous barbarities."

"Two took place while I was in Wandsworth, and nearly nine years later they are as vividly horrifying as they were on those Tuesdays back in 1928," he writes.

"As eight o'clock approaches the gaol becomes very quiet. In Wandsworth the drop is some way from the condemned cell—about 18 yards. In the wind of the hall where the shed is situated are the cells of the juvenile adults, prisoners under 25. The clock strikes the hours—one, two, three, four, five... and the drop goes with a crash heard all over the gaol.

"Simultaneously a wild uproar shatters the death silence. Bed-boards smash on the cell floors in time with the death-crash and reverberate along the hollow walls. Screams, cries, yells, curses, and ribald remarks are shrieked from the cells—'One off the roll! One for his nob!'"

The author has a good deal to say about prison staffs, mostly highly critical.

"WHOLE SYSTEM WRONG"

The whole prison system, the author contends, is wrong. The "screws" (gaolers) are treated stupidly, and at least 50 per cent. of the wretched behaviour they display towards the "lads" is forced upon them by out-of-date Standing Orders.

"As a beginning to a sane prison system," he writes, "the existing Standing Orders should be scrapped and new regulations compiled, in which the maintenance of discipline takes a secondary place."

"A small committee of intelligent men with imagination, working a few broad principles, could do the job in a day. Permit talking, allow smoking, abolish flogging and bread and water; maintain discipline by the deprivation of remission and of privileges; pay decently for good work."

"Then demilitarise the service. Discontinue the practice of appointing governors and deputy-governors from the Army, Navy, and Colonial police forces."

Make promotion to the rank of governor something that every gaoler could look forward to, and make this promotion a matter of seniority.

Macartney states that Mr. J. R. Clynes was the most sympathetic of the five Home Secretaries he experienced during his sentence and would permit no "coddling of convicts."

MISS BETTY BADEN-POWELL MARRIED

Miss Betty St. Clair Baden-Powell, younger daughter of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, was married at Bentley, Alton, Hampshire, recently to Mr. Gertrude Charles Robert Clay, a member of the Northern Rhodesian Administrative Service and the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Arden Clay, of Weston House, Albury, Surrey.

Scouts in uniform, from Westminster Abbey choir school sang at the wedding.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of rich creamy satin, with a long train, and veil of old family lace lent by the bridegroom's mother. She carried a sheaf of Harebell lilies.

The train-bearers were Michael Walton and Catherine Barne.

NATIONAL MEMORIAL TO LORD ALLENBY

Endowment of Club

An appeal is to be issued shortly for the national memorial to Viscount Allenby. The memorial is to take the form of the endowment of the Allenby (Services) Club, of which the Field Marshal was president and which has helped more than 100,000 distressed ex-Service men.

The King has approved of the scheme, the Duke of Connaught is patron of the appeal, and the Duke of Gloucester is to preside at the inaugural meeting at the Royal United Service Institution, Whitehall, on Oct. 27.

Vice-patrons of the appeal include Dr. Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, Earl Winterton, the Earl of Rosebery, Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Duff Cooper, Secretary for War, Viscount Swinton, Secretary for Air, the High Commissioners for the various Dominions, and the Chief Rabbi.

The Allenby Club was founded in 1907 under the name of the Veterans' Club. Lord Allenby became president in 1933, and the club's name was changed this year in acknowledgment of his help in making it possible to improve and enlarge the premises in Handcourt, Holborn.

The club has 3,000 members, most of them ex-Service men. It provides the usual social amenities besides helping former comrades in arms by finding them jobs, providing clothes, board and lodging, and, in special cases, giving them money.

Last year 2,294 applicants were assisted—2,018 with board or money, 137 with clothing, and 139 with work.

The former wearing cream trousers and tunic and the latter a dress, toning with those of the eight bridesmaids. The bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Miss Heather Baden-Powell, Miss Evie Clay, Miss Rosie Clay, and Miss Penella Sergeant (cousins of the bridegroom), and the Misses Rosemary Farrer-Mann, Rosaline de Renzy Martin, Peggy Edge, and Margaret Crawford. They wore parchment-tinted satin with pale green sashes, green-tinted crystal haloes, and jade brooches, the gifts of the bridegroom.

The best man was the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Ralph Clay. About 400 guests attended the reception at Pax Hill.

The newly married couple sailed for Northern Rhodesia.

Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday for obtaining money under false pretences from the Dairy Farm, Ice and Cold Storage Company's branch store at 188, Prince Edward Road.

Insp. W. R. Chester Woods said that the defendant bought two tins of fruit salad, a tin of coffee, a tin of shrimps and a pound of butter by pretending that he was Mr. Abraham of 8, Torres Building.

Defendant, replying to the charge, said that he was sorry that it had happened, and that he was willing to refund the Dairy Farm Company.

The hearing has been remanded for forty-eight hours in police custody for further investigation.

AMERICAN SEAMEN CHARGED

Alleged Assault At Cafe

CHARGES DENIED

Rudolph A. Timmen, mariner, and Kenneth L. Tyron, fireman, both of the U.S.S. Gold Star were charged before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy on Saturday with assaulting Ho Sul-lam, accountant of the Tung Yuen Cafe, No. 55 Des Voeux Road Central, at about 8.30 p.m. on Friday.

Both defendants pleaded not guilty. Sub-Inspector Armit said that he received a telephonic communication that some Europeans were creating a disturbance near the cafe. They were under the influence of drink. The trouble arose when the defendants asked for two cups of coffee but were not served. They resented this and a row ensued, during which the complainant was hit and a flower-pot and earthenware jar were broken.

Complainant, in evidence, said he was definite that the defendants were sober at his cafe and, even under cross-examination by the Inspector, maintained that when in the charge-room they were still sober.

The case will be continued today.

INCIDENT AT DANCE HALL

Fusilier Bound Over

Fusilier Leslie Watkins, was charged before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy on Saturday, with malicious damage to private property and assaulting Mr. Conley Grey at the Majestic Dancing Hall.

Det-Sgt. Forrest said that about 7.15 a.m., on October 9, defendant was seen in Temple street carrying a suitcase. The constable stopped him, and took him to the Yaumati police station, where a report had already been made of the theft.

It appears that defendant climbed over the wall into the fitter's shop, of which Kwan Sze, was the master, and Ng Ki, an apprentice, and stole the articles mentioned.

SWATOW NEWS

National Flags Compulsory For Double Tenth

Swatow, Oct. 7.

It seems that the celebration of the Double Tenth (National Commemoration Day) this year is going to be a unique one; though outwardly there are no signs yet of any gigantic preparations. Possibly everything will shoot out at the eleventh hour. However, one innovation is certain. It is compulsory for every Chinese household to host the national flag on the October 10, falling which the household will be fined. Inspectors will go round everywhere to see that the order is carried out. The flags can be obtained only from the shop specified, at $1 each.

UNIFORMS

After the 10th instant employees in all government offices must put on a special uniform; the coats are to be closed up and buttoned up the neck. The idea of this uniform is to economise, as it will be made of cheaper material to substitute the more expensive foreign-style dresses which will not be permitted to be worn during working hours.

R.M.S. SANDWICH

The warship put into port on Saturday. A game of cricket was played on Sunday between the ship and the local eleven; while on Monday, the sailors played and lost to the Swatow Athletics at soccer. The visitors were amply compensated with draught beer kindly supplied by K. M. Lee, captain of the local team.

BON VOYAGE

A big crowd of friends and colleagues were on board the B. & O. Yachow, last Monday, to see Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ross, of the Chinese Customs, off. Mr. Ross transferred to Tientsin and will be missed by all who know him. As Assistant Tidewater, he was much respected by his subordinate officers. Jimmy's departure meant that his personal friends have lost a real friend and a good sport.

COMMAND OF THE STORK

Lieutenant-Commander W. I. Farquharson, who has been promoted to the acting rank of commander and appointed in command of the new surveying ship Stork, was in command of the Beaufort up to April last. He passed out of Dartmouth as a midshipman in January, 1917, and joined H.M.S. Valiant in the Grand Fleet. After being sub-lieutenant of the destroyer Wivern in 1919-20 he went in for surveying duties and joined H.M.S. Fantome in Australia. He has been graded as charge surveyor since 1934 and has recently been serving in the West Coast of Scotland survey.

CALLS IN H.M.S. VICTORY

Admiral Sir William Fisher, G.C.B., G.C.V.O., the new Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth, has instituted the practice of receiving official calls upon him on board H.M.S. Victory, instead of at Admiralty House. The Victory thus becomes his actual as well as nominal flagship on such occasions, and the compliment of being received in Nelson's flagship at Trafalgar is one which the visiting officers and officials much appreciate.

COMMANDER A. G. DAVIDSON (RET.)

Lieutenant-Commander A. G. Davidson is being placed on the retired list at his own request with the rank of commander. He has had over 30 years in the Navy, which he entered as a cadet at Osborne in May, 1906. In the War he was sub-lieutenant and lieutenant in the destroyers Minstrel and Martial and the battle-cruiser Australia, all in the Grand Fleet. The Martial took part in the Battle of Jutland. His appointments since the War have included the commands of various destroyers, including the Seraph, Wessex, Wakeful and Viceroy. Since 1930 he has served at Portsmouth on training duties on the staff of the Anti-Gas School, and in command of small craft in reserve.

SHOTS FIRED

To Frighten Intruder

Excitement was caused in Wan-chai on Saturday morning when four shots were fired into the air by Chan Chai-kwong, of 2 Fleming Road, to frighten a thief.

A Police report of the incident states that Chau, a shop-fork, was awakened at 5 a.m. by his son, who had seen the alleged thief in the flat.

When discovered, the thief escaped to the roof. Chau followed, and hastened the intruder's departure by firing the shots. Chau is a licensed holder of a revolver. No arrest was perpetrated.

EMPIRE AIRWAYS

Flying-Boats To Australia

REPLY TO LABOUR CRITICISM

Mr. Curtin, the Federal Labour leader, moved the adjournment of the House of Representatives, Canberra, recently in a speech criticizing the acceptance by the Australian Cabinet, of the Imperial flying-boat service.

He said that Australian interests were being sacrificed. If the Cabinet's decision meant the substitution of the Singapore-Brisbane service by London-Sydney flying-boats, Australia would lose control of vital internal air mails, exclude herself from international control and permit an external company to run the most important Australian service. Experts had declared that flying-boats were unfitted for Australian defence. In the event of an invasion, land machines could retreat inland, whereas boats were limited by the coastline. It was impracticable to prepare the Darwin-Sydney route for boats.

Mr. Archdale Parkhill replied that details had not yet been finally fixed. The negotiations had saved the Commonwealth £2100,000 in the cost of the service.

It has proposed (he said) to substitute for the mail steamer services a service with a type of aeroplane not yet decided, making the terminus New Zealand. The proposed coastal service was not part of the internal services. There was no suggestion of external control of such services, which would not be injured. On the contrary, the Government was considering plans for increasing the internal services by instituting night air mails. Suggestions for modifying the British scheme to ensure more effective Australian control of the Singapore-Sydney section had been made, giving the clearest possible indication

STRANGE STORIES OF HEREDITY

Stigma Traced Back 900 Years

ROMAN GENERAL'S EXTRA FINGER

Questions of race and heredity have bulked large in this year's discussions of the British Association at Blackpool. Professor R. Ruggles Gates, of King's College, London, told of some of the strange cases collected by the new Bureau of Human Heredity, for the institution of which he has been responsible.

Many of the stories which have come to him have all the full-blooded flavour of fictional romance, and yet by the study of such strange pedigrees Professor Ruggles Gates believes that much information of scientific value may be obtained.

If there is one point rather than another which emerges from this year's meeting, it is that knowledge of human heredity and racial characteristics is still sadly defective.

From Australia has come the story of a woman with a double-width thumb. This is a recognised form of physical abnormality.

What is unusual is that Professor Ruggles Gates' correspondent—the last of her line to bear the stigma can trace her descent, without break through an Italian family back to an Arab tribe in the Eleventh Century, and that in every generation through all these 900 years the same abnormality has made its appearance.

SCIPIO AFRICANUS

"I have just received a photograph showing the genuineness of the deformity," Professor Ruggles Gates remarked, "and documentary references from which the family history can be verified."

"This, however, is not the longest pedigree of the kind known to me. It is on record that the Roman general Scipio Africanus, just over 2,000 years ago, had an extra finger. There is a modern Rumanian family of the name of Scipio, which claims descent from Scipio, an also bears this deformity. As is generally known, Rumania is closely connected with Italy both historically and in language."

Another case which Professor Ruggles Gates suggests illustrates the social importance of such inquiries has lately come to him from America. It is that of an American woman who had for a time become mentally deranged after the shock of seeing her grown-up son killed before her eyes.

She has now submitted evidence suggesting that there are in her family hereditary mental qualities of an undesirable kind which only show themselves when some such abnormal shock confronts their bearers.

Such latent qualities, she believes, members of the public should be taught to recognise, and after her own bitter experience, to refuse to pass on.

HAEMOPHILIA

As an example of a popular myth, Professor Ruggles Gates quoted the case of haemophilia, the hereditary disease which lies in a lack of clotting power in the blood.

"It is generally believed," he stated, "that this disease is only shown in males, and only transmitted through females. The fact is that it could be inherited by a woman if she received the hereditary factor concerned from both sides."

"Similarly, the disease is only normally transmitted through the women of a family for the reason that the males who actively show the disease seldom survive long enough to pass it on. There are, however, a few cases on record in which haemophilia has been transmitted through a male."

Professor Ruggles Gates will explain how this method of hereditary study can be applied to wild plants, intensively collected from any particular area.

that Australia was not abandoning control.

Mr. Page said that the aim of the discussions had been to improve the services in the interests of Australia. The United Kingdom Government had not suggested that Australia should relinquish control of the Singapore-Darwin section. The Cabinet insisted on the right to impose surcharges, the proceeds of which would be of use in assisting and stimulating the internal services.

The motion was talked out. Sir Archdale Parkhill is going to New Zealand to take part in discussions there.

PLAN TO CURE UNEMPLOYMENT

Door Closed To Immigration

New Zealand will not consider a resumption of migration from Great Britain until she has solved her own unemployment problem.

This view was expressed by Mr. W. J. Jordan, a former London policeman, who is High Commissioner-designate for New Zealand, when he arrived recently in London.

Among those who greeted him were Sir James Farr, the retiring High Commissioner, and Brigadier-General J. Whitehead, Deputy Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police.

Mr. Jordan told a "Morning Post" representative that his Government earnestly sought the co-operation of Great Britain in their efforts to make New Zealand a contented and prosperous unit of the British Commonwealth.

"New Zealand already purchases more British goods per head than any other overseas country," he added, "and it is our desire to extend our trade with Great Britain, and with other British countries to the utmost extent possible, to invite British people to settle in New Zealand after provision has been made for the employment of the present population of the Dominion, to purchase from Britain as well as to sell to Britain, and to meet in full all financial charges in London and elsewhere."

IMPERIAL DEFENCE

New Zealand must first solve her own unemployment problem, Mr. Jordan continued, and this the new Labour Government were trying to do by raising the standard of living all round, and by reducing working hours. They had stabilised the vitally-important dairy industry, had introduced a wider and more generous system of pensions, and laid down a minimum wage.

Legislation had been passed providing for a basic wage for each trade, together with a forty-hour week and a month's holiday in each industry where possible.

The Government had fixed a rate of 16s. a day for a five-day week for a man, with wife and three children, engaged on public works. The minimum rates for each trade were fixed by compulsory arbitration, and employers as a whole were anxious to give the system a fair trial.

Asked about his Government's policy with regard to the question of Imperial Defence, Mr. Jordan said he could only reiterate the opinion expressed by Mr. Savage, the Prime Minister, advocating the necessity of consultation with Great Britain and Australia for the production of a common defence plan. He would not indicate what steps New Zealand might consider in carrying out such a plan.

CAREERS

Some seventy thousand youths and girls will be leaving secondary schools in Britain this year. They are the "post-war babies," born in that immediate post-war period when the birth-rate showed a natural rise. Into what sort of world are they going?

A queer world, to judge from the hints on "Careers for Secondary School Boys" which the Ministry of Labour has issued. The Ministry, and the Headmasters' Association which co-operates with it, deserve credit for their attempts to ensure the fitting of round pegs into round holes. They deserve credit, too, for being alive to modern trends. Among the fifty careers on which they give hints, the Defence Forces figure prominently.

In the case of the other forty-nine, however, the emphasis seems sometimes a little odd and the selection a little haphazard. Law is given more attention than Agriculture; Librarianship as much as the Merchant Navy; Tea and Coffee Tasting—for which we are glad to see a "good sense of smell and clean palate" recommended—more than Draughtsmanship. Of the fifty occupations enumerated a dozen at the outside could be described as genuinely productive and a dozen more as necessary ancillaries to production. Of the rest, half a dozen are concerned with selling in various forms, half a dozen with maintenance of human health, eight with education and entertainment, and half a dozen with government service. Among the many unusual occupations included are Museum Service, Statistics, and Veterinary Surgery.

Do these figures and careers give a true reflection of the life of a great industrial nation? If they did, it would be a more leisurely life than in fact it is. Over half our population of ten years and more is employed in major productive and manufacturing industries which receive comparatively little attention in the Ministry of Labour's hints on careers, and some of them no attention at all. This fact might be remembered in any future additions to a service admirable in intention.

FAREWELL COCKTAIL PARTY

Cdr. R.H.D. Lane Leaving

NUMEROUS GUESTS PRESENT

Commander R. H. D. Lane, R.N., gave a most successful farewell cocktail party on Saturday night, there being a large attendance of friends.

The occasion was tinged with regrets at the departure for Home of one of the most popular officers on the China Station.

Treading through the maze of the Kowloon Naval Yard, guided at intervals by smiling blue jackets, one suddenly encountered a fairy like scene, passing through a pair of traditional dolphins, one was greeted with music from a loud speaker cleverly concealed under an immense lighted Good Luck Sign. There were gaily bedecked beer barrels for tables on the fairy lighted lawn, and two white leghorn cockerels had the place of honour in the centre of the lawn.

Among the guests present were Rear-Admiral C. G. and Mrs. Sedgwick, Commander Wauchope, Commander de Sales, Major and Mrs. Grune, the latter looking charming in a pastel floral frock with a posy on the neck, Comm. Uff. A. Blane, Consul-General for Italy, Major and Mrs. F. M. Bramall, R.M., Lieut-Commander and Mrs. Clutterbuck, Commander and Mrs. Bristowe, Mr. Forbes, Commissioner of Customs, and Mrs. Forbes, Capt. and Mrs. Eley, Miss Ritchie, looking most attractive in blue checked taffetas.

Others present included Commr. Ellis, Lt-Cdr. Selby, Lt-Cdr. Keogh, Lt-Cdr. Barry, Commr. and Mrs. Disbrow, Eng. Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Davies, Captain Parkes, R.A., Mr. and Mrs. Camp, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Cairns, Mr. and Mrs. Kershaw Messrs. Wilkinson, Neill, Luke, Edwin, Grey and Fairburn, Misses Lowe, Clarke, Naylor, Ritchie, Baskett, Joan Smalley, Mary Smalley, Dr. and Mrs. M. Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Dennison.

AIR MINISTRY SECRETS

Engineer Bound Over

Evidence was given in camera at Cambridge Police Court recently when Walter John Butterfield, 40, of Spencer Road, Bedford, a mechanical and electrical engineer employed by the Air Ministry, pleaded "Guilty" to the charge that, between April 14 and August 31, 1936, being a person having in his possession or control information which he had obtained, or to which he had had access owing to his position as a person who held office under his Majesty, he communicated the information to a person to whom he was not authorized to communicate it.

Butterfield pleaded "Not Guilty" to a second charge of having on April 15, 1936, made certain false statements to Thomas Henry Norris for the purpose of assisting Richard Rimmer to gain admission to Cranfield Aerodrome—a prohibited place.

Mr. H. G. Farham, who appeared for the Director of Public Prosecutions, said that he was desirous of the Air Ministry to ask for the case to be held in camera.

Mr. H. F. Shaw, solicitor, who defended Butterfield, raised no objection to this course, and the Court was cleared.

When the Court was reopened the Mayor (Alderman H. T. Wing), who presided over the bench, addressing Butterfield, said it was not necessary for the Bench to say that it was a very serious charge, and although no harm so far as the State was concerned had been done, that did not mean that it might not have been done.

In consequence of his previous good record and out of consideration of the fact that he had been in custody for 12 days, Butterfield was bound over on his own recognizances for 12 months in the sum of £10.

No evidence was offered on the second charge, which was not proceeded with.

There will be a Cocktail Party after the closing game of the bowls season at the Kowloon C.C. on Saturday, October 11, at 7.15 p.m. The magician Max Mallin will be one of the main features.

FREEMAN OF BODMIN

Sir A. Quiller-Couch Honoured

BOYISH DREAM REALIZED

The freedom of Bodmin was conferred recently on two of its most distinguished sons, Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch, Professor of English Literature at Cambridge University, and Mr. John Pethybridge, a former town clerk and mayor.

The ceremony was preceded by a reception given by the Mayor, Lieutenant-Colonel F. M. M. Bawden, at the Guildhall, from which the civic procession walked along the street to the Public Rooms where the presentation was made. After the addresses had been read by the Town Clerk Mr. E. W. Gill, Sir Arthur and Mr. Pethybridge signed the Freeman's Roll. The rolls presented to the two new Freeman were placed in handsome copper caskets, and handed to them by the Mayor.

The roll given to Sir Arthur read:—

"By this act we would recognize with gratitude your great achievement in English public life, your deserved renown in the realm of letters, your services to education and to your native county. Though many Cornishmen have made contribution to the noble tradition of English literature, there is none that surpasses your own. In your work you have created a world of Cornish men and women, in which our distinctive life is mirrored for the generations that come after."

"Wherever Cornishmen are gathered together in whatever part of the earth, they will recognize in you the chosen spokesman of the Cornish people. For us a charm lies upon your work, as upon your life, a true, a kindly observation of nature, a generous humanity, humour, fantasy, imagination: such are the gifts we recognize in you. Your generous has brought honour and increase to this your native county."

"You have by your teaching and inspiration created a school in English letters, and a tradition at the University of Cambridge. You have for years taken your part in the responsibilities of local government as a Magistrate. You have rendered great services to Cornish education. Nor is this the full tale of your service and devotion. Your life has been singularly rich and full and fortunate in achievement whether in private friendship, in many acts of kindness and encouragement to your fellows, or in public service and duty."

THE "UNLICENSED" SALMON
SIR Arthur Quiller-Couch, responding, said that in the casket should be treasured many recollections of Bodmin.

"Among them, as I half lift the lid," he said, "emerges one in particular—of a day, some 60 years ago and probably more, when I fondly imagined myself already a Freeman of the Borough. It happened, I believe, in a consularship of the late Mr. John Richard Collins who—being an antiquarian in the hours he spared from other activities—conceived an idea that the Borough Bound wanted beating. So forth Bodmin fared; some (including the Mayor himself) on horse-back, others in the less unstable dignity of chaises and landaus; these followed by a crowd on foot—some few of whom, through a misunderstanding, diverged down Dunmere Hill to the Borough Arms; but the main body held on well and truly. I do not recall that Mr. Pethybridge made one of us rabble of boys who cut hazel-boughs and beat the streams that day, defying encroachment in turn (if I remember) from Lanivet, Helfand, Cardinham, Lanhydrock. But for that matter every mother's son of us urchins was so bemuddled as we trailed home into town behind pipes and drum to the tune of the Bodmin Riding that it would almost have puzzled our mothers to sort us out. I only know that night in my opinion I felt a worthy Freeman of Bodmin—so, after all, much depends on which end you look through a telescope."

"Remembering those boundary streams of Camel and Fowey, I half-lift the lid again; or the lid of a fishing-basket which once covered my first salmon-pearl (taken without a licence). On my way home, midway up the hill from Tredethy, whom should I encounter but old Squire Hext, 'Hullo, young Couch! Any sport?' Trembling, I fumbled with the lid. 'No, no, my son'—that excellent magistrate put out his hand—'At your age I hated old gentlemen to be inquisitive.' And yet there are people who write to the newspapers that Justices don't know their business!"

Referring in conclusion to his writings, Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch said that to learn a difficult art had been his devotion. If at times he had poked some fun at his fellow Cornishmen, that had been understood that a little mockery was the licence of intimacy and unquestioned love.

The roll presented to Mr. John Pethybridge recorded that he had held the office of Town Clerk for 30 years, had been a Justice of the Peace for 22 years, and a member of the Town Council for 12 years, and had served as Mayor on two occasions.

FUNERAL OF MR. CAMPBELL BLACK

Police Needed To Control Crowds

MOURNERS ASKED FOR AUTOGRAPHS

Foot and mounted police were needed to control the crowds when the coffin containing the body of Mr. Campbell Black, the airman, who was killed at Speke Airport recently, left his home in St. John's Wood for Golders Green Crematorium.

At the crematorium the crowd, mainly women, surged round the entrance to the chapel and on the garden cloisters to which the mourners came after the service.

When the cortege with its long succession of flower-laden carriages arrived, people stretched four deep from the gates to the chapel.

A number pressed round Mr. Jack Hulbert, Mr. Bobby Howes and other well-known people with requests for autographs.

On the plain oak coffin, round which was a Union Jack, was a great wreath of crimson and white roses from Mrs. Campbell Black—Miss Florence Desmond the actress. She chose them because they were the flowers in her wedding bouquet. Attached was a card with the words: "To you, my dear love. Stay near me and comfort me. With all my love, Dessie."

DEAN'S TRIBUTE
While the mourners were taking their seats in the crematorium chapel, the organist played Sir Walford Davies' "Solemn Melody."

Mrs. Campbell Black, very pale, sat in the front row on the right-hand side of the chapel. With her was her father-in-law, Mr. Milner Black. She wept through most of the short service.

There was no singing. The Rev. S. N. L. Ford, Vicar of All Souls', Hampstead, read the 23rd Psalm. In a panegyric Dr. Dwelly, Dean of Liverpool Cathedral, said:

"With a like reserve as that which characterised his life whom we honour this day, we are about to yield to the consuming heat his body, which responded so perfectly to his spirit: that body which is, after all, all that could die of Campbell Black. It was his spirit that gave him fullness of life in body, mind and soul for the great adventure."

"Brave living here, and then beyond, more life and more adventure for the brave. That is our faith."

Dr. Dwelly said that Campbell Black, as a pioneer in civil aviation, was among those to whom have been committed the trust of creating new great services of human communications.

"Let us pray that there may never be wanting to England such sons," he added.

The Rev. S. N. L. Ford, in the Committal prayers, referred to Campbell Black's "good humour, love of simple pleasures, kindly thoughts for those near to him, and love of making and keeping friends."

WREATHS FOR WAR MEMORIAL

As the coffin slowly passed from sight many men and women in the chapel were in tears.

The mourners had some difficulty afterwards in making their way through the crowd. The wreaths were taken immediately in cars to the Golders Green War Memorial by Mrs. Campbell Black's special wish.

Only three—those on the coffin—were kept back. These were consumed in the flames. They were those of Mrs. Campbell Black, Mr. Campbell Black's father and mother—"To our beloved son, Tom"—and his brother abroad: "To my dear brother who understands, to which was added a sentence in Kiswahili, "Strong greetings to my brother."

The ashes will be taken to Brighton, the airman's native town, for final burial.

THE GREAT CHINESE PUZZLE

Japan As Master Mind In Its Unravelling

(BY H. G. W. WOODHEAD)
("Morning Post" Shanghai Correspondent)

For years past it can hardly ever have been said that China was not in the throes of a crisis of some kind. Yet there has never been a time when the outlook has looked more hopeless than it does to-day. While struggling with financial and currency difficulties the Central Government is confronted with open rebellion in the South, and with apparently insoluble local and Sino-Japanese issues in the North.

Strong separatist tendencies have prevailed in the Southern Provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi ever since the downfall of the Government, which included so many Southern nominees, in 1926. Apart from temperamental incompatibility between the Cantonese and the Northern Chinese, this separatism has been fostered by personal antagonisms. The Kwangsi militarists have never forgiven General Chiang Kai-shek for defeating them in the field, in 1929, and ejecting them from the Kuomintang, although they were formally reinstated in the Party at the end of 1931.

A number of disgruntled Kuomintang politicians chief among whom was the late Hu Han-min, have used Canton as a base for a persistent and continuous campaign of calumny and criticism against the Generalissimo. Until recently, however, he could rely upon General Chen Chi-tang, the dominant militarist in the South, to veto any overt act of hostility against the Nanking regime.

ANOTHER GRIEVANCE

The recent promulgation of the final Draft of the Permanent Constitution which is to be submitted to a National People's Congress during the autumn, and which provides for greatly enhanced powers for the President; of the Republic, has supplied the South with another grievance. It is assumed—although General Chiang Kai-shek denies any aspirations for the Presidency—that this Constitution is intended to pave the way for his open assumption of a dictatorship.

During the past eighteen months, using the anti-Red campaign as justification, General Kai-shek has extended his authority over the Western Provinces of Szechwan, Kweichow, and Yunnan. The last two have for years been regarded as being within the orbit of Canton. They are notorious for their opium production. And the Kwangsi Provincial Government collected half of its total revenue, or more, from the taxation of opium in transit to Kwangtung. When Yunnan and Kweichow came under his control, General Chiang Kai-shek re-routed their opium crops through the Yangtze valley, thus completely cutting off one of Kwangsi's main sources of income. As the Kwangsi militarists were spending money lavishly on the equipment and training of Provincial Armies and Militia, they were exasperated by this interference with the opium traffic.

The real grievances of Kwangtung and Kwangsi against Nanking would make very unsatisfactory reading if put forward to justify military operations against the Central Government. The time-honoured expedient of exploiting China's foreign relations to justify a revolt was resorted to. Demanding that Nanking should declare war upon the Japanese and resist all further aggression in the North, the Kwangtung and Kwangsi militarists invaded Southern Hunan. It was obvious that armies which would have to march overland for upwards of a thousand miles—leaving their coastal bases exposed to Japanese attack or blockade—were never seriously intended to fight the armies of Nippon. Nanking poured reinforcements into Hunan, and intimated in no uncertain terms its intention to resist any further advance of the Southern forces.

SMUGGLING SCANDAL

So much for the South. Let us now turn to North China. The smuggling scandal in Hupeh Province has attracted world-wide attention, and the Japanese Government's evasion of responsibility, with the excuse that the goods are not smuggled because they have paid nominal import duties to the so-called East Hupeh Autonomous Council, carries no conviction anywhere. Protests from China, and representations from the British and American Governments, have left the Japanese Foreign Office unmoved. Sir Frederick Leith Ross, the Chief Economic Adviser to the Treasury, is reported to have done some very plain speaking during his farewell visit to Tokyo, but smuggling continues, and gangs of desperadoes not only overload trains running from Tientsin southward, but judging from Japanese protests over firing by Revenue cruisers, are now to be permitted to land smuggled cargoes with impunity even outside the so-called Demilitarized Zone.

It is obvious that this official condonation of smuggling—estimated to be costing China about 23,000,000 dollars a year in revenue—is a form of coercion, by which Tokyo hopes to effect a readjustment of Sino-Japanese relations in North China on a basis satisfactory to itself.

Few non-Japanese observers can approve of Japan's China policy, or the methods by which it is being enforced. It is, however, necessary to take a realistic view of the situation. It is quite obvious, after the League's successive failures in connection with Manchuria and Abyssinia, that no Power or combination of Powers is going to war with Japan over the Customs or any other Chinese issue. Japan is fully aware of this, and is exploiting her knowledge.

What is described in Japanese official circles as the stabilisation of conditions in the Far East, and is in reality the assertion of Japan's predominant political and economic position in this part of the world, has become an obsession among the Japanese of all classes. They are convinced that it involves the very existence of Japan as a nation. They are convinced also, that by tariff barriers, quotas, restrictions upon immigration, &c., the rest of the world—and especially those Powers with large and under-populated territories—are seeking to prevent Japan from pursuing her national existence by the only means open to her: manufacture and export. Japanese statesmen appear to recognise that their country has not the financial resources to undertake the rehabilitation of China, single-handed. But they will only admit European or American co-operation on the basis of their predominant interests in this country.

PROVOCATION

It must not be forgotten that the Japanese have been subjected to considerable provocation from China and other quarters. Their refusal to co-operate with the white races dates from the absurd folly of the passage of the U.S. Immigration Act. Moreover, it can hardly be doubted that, but for well-meant, but irresponsible interference by Europe and America in Sino-Japanese disputes—which encouraged the Chinese to look for intervention which never came—these disputes would probably have been adjusted on far more moderate lines than can now be hoped for at any short notice.

The methods by which Japan is now seeking to gain her ends may be open to severe criticism. But they have to some extent been forced upon her by the stimulated recalcitrance of the Chinese Government and people. The greatest mistake that can possibly be made is to regard Japan's China policy as bluff. It is essentially realistic, and it must be met elsewhere by realistic reactions. Some sacrifice on the part of non-Japanese interests may be called for if stability in the Far East is to be restored.

The rest of the world, however, cannot hope to have it both ways. It cannot exclude Japanese manufactures from markets under its control, and at the same time claim the right to interfere in the one market in which she is in a position practically to dictate her own terms.

COMMUNIST MEETINGS BANNED IN FRANCE

Alsace Lorraine Gatherings

PERSONAL APPEAL BY MINISTERS

Danger Of Disturbance Near German Frontier

Paris, October 10.

A lively week-end was threatened in Alsace Lorraine owing to the Communists planning a number of meetings there tomorrow. One hundred and twenty seven meetings were originally proposed, but reduced to ten after appeals by the Premier, M. Leon Blum, who was anxious to avoid the danger of a disturbance near the German frontier, and by the Minister of Interior, M. Salengro, who urged the population to avoid disorder which might endanger the democratic regime and perhaps even the country.

Troops were called out at Strasbourg to guard public buildings, and a thousand extra Mobile Guards were drafted in from Lyons and Nancy. There were a number of preventive arrests, but no disturbances. However, the Right Wing adherents are mobilising for to-morrow's meetings.

DISORDER AT METZ

Police at Metz repeatedly charged a crowd of Royalist and Fascist demonstrators outside the hall where the Communist secretary, Thorez, was billed to speak. The demonstrators sang the Marseillaise and shouted "France for the French, down with Thorez!"

TENSION RELAXED

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Paris, Oct. 10.

Following a period of extreme tension during which the Communist Party refused to accede to the Government's ban against a number of political party meetings planned in Alsace Lorraine, the Communist Party issued a statement late on Saturday evening announcing the decision to agree with the Government.

It was pointed out, however, that it must not be implied that the Communist Party was in agreement with the Government's attitude.

Extensive precautions had been taken by the authorities to guard against disturbances. The police prefects were given orders to forbid meetings in certain sections of the town. One hundred and seventy detachments of Mobile Guards were sent to assist the police in their work.

The situation is still thought to be extremely difficult and critical and is likely to have a decided influence on the Radical Socialist Party congress which will take place next week.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Assembly Session Closed

PROPOSED REFORM OF COVENANT

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Geneva, Oct. 10.

The 17th session of the League of Nations Assembly was declared closed shortly after 8 p.m. on Saturday.

Business in the early part of the day consisted largely in passing reports and resolutions submitted by various committees amongst them being that of the committee for reform of the League of Nations Covenant. The latter was adopted but the Chilean delegate abstained from voting, declaring that the proposal made on behalf of his government that non-member states should be co-opted by the newly appointed committee had not been given the consideration it merited. The Hungarian delegate also abstained from voting.

In the final meeting that began at 6.30 p.m. the same evening, the President, Savadramas, reviewed the work accomplished by this session of the League of Nations assembly emphasising that all the delegates without exception had agreed that the most important decision that had to be arrived at

GERMAN COLONIAL CAMPAIGN

Breslau Conference Postponed

Berlin, Oct. 11.

The country is mystified by the sudden decision to postpone the National Colonial Conference due to start at Breslau on October 16. The campaign to make the country colony conscious has been worked up for some time and the Breslau Conference was scheduled to be accompanied by most spectacular publicity. The cryptic announcement attributes the postponement to illness of one of the organising officials, but there is good reason to believe that the explanation lies deeper.

Dr. Schaech and von Epp are the leaders of the colonial movement, but Chancellor Hitler was never a leading exponent of the colonial campaign. Herr von Ribbentrop is similarly lukewarm and believes the pursuit of the colonial question to be harmful if England is thereby antagonised.

Events at the recent British Conservative congress provided a strong weapon for the school working for better relations with Britain even at the cost of temporarily sacrificing the colonial question.

WORLD SITUATION

Turning to the general world situation, the President declared that the tendency of many countries towards economic self-sufficiency, uncertainty as to the future of the world's great currencies, and the increasing competition in armaments, were matters which gave cause for anxiety and would have to be dealt with and disposed of both in the political and economic spheres if general upheavals were to be avoided.

The French Finance Minister submitted a report on the economic and finance questions based on the Anglo-American-French currency agreement and, after declaring that the time had passed when nations could benefit by currency manipulation, emphatically advocated a return to stability on the gold basis.

Following a proposal of thanks voiced by the British delegate, the League of Nations Assembly was declared closed.

ENCIRCLING OF MADRID

Further Progress By Insurgents

The position in Madrid is regarded as serious following the successful conclusion of a series of guerrilla operations of great military importance conceived and directed personally by General Franco, leader of the insurgents.

The capture of Cebereros, following that of San Martin and Valdeiglesias, gives the Nationalists, for the first time the use of a direct road between Avilla and Toledo. The commander of the Madrid column, General Varela, is now free to proceed with his advance from Toledo and Maqueda to Madrid.

The danger to his left flank by raids of militiamen on the Talavera-Toledo road, from the north and south, is now practically eliminated by the cleaning up, in which fresh Moorish troops from Africa, legionaries, regulars and cavalry participated.

DECORATIONS FOR THE CORONATION

Streets And Parks Of London

London, Oct. 10.

Good progress is being made with the preparation of designs for decoration of streets and parks of London for the coronation. The eminent architects who have been appointed to supervise the schemes of decoration in the city of London and city of Westminster have been in frequent consultation with the chief architect of the Office of Works whose concern is the Royal parks and the schemes are being co-ordinated.

In the comparatively narrow streets of the city it is proposed that decorations shall be suspended from buildings and houses; but in wider streets of Westminster it will be necessary as usual to make use of pylons in the decorative scheme. It will be the aim of those responsible to achieve more striking effects than have been usually obtained in street decorations on such occasions in the past.

Advice will shortly be issued to the general public about the decoration of private buildings and houses.

DISSOLUTION OF HEIMWEHR

Austrian Cabinet Decision

BOLD MOVE BY CHANCELLOR

Vienna, Oct. 10.

A Government communiqué states that at an extraordinary Cabinet Council Chancellor von Schuschnigg dealt with the political situation. Following his report the Vice-Chancellor, Major Baar-Baarenfels, and the members of the Cabinet, Dr. Draxler and Herr Peruter, in view of their connection with semi-military organisations, tendered their resignations to Dr. von Schuschnigg, which the Chancellor reported to President Miklas, who reappointed the three Ministers to their posts. The Cabinet Council then decided upon a law dissolving all military and semi-military corporations.

Dr. von Schuschnigg informed the members of the Cabinet that all the members would be appointed by the Federal President on the Chancellor's personal proposal, and would no longer be subject to any other obligations or bindings. The members of the Government unanimously took cognisance of the statement.

POLICE AND ARMY LOYAL

It is pointed out that the Cabinet's decision to dissolve the Heimwehr could only be countered by some desperate act of violence by Prince von Starhemberg, but since the police and the army are entirely loyal to Dr. von Schuschnigg such a step would not only be suicidal but is regarded as impossible. The entire Cabinet, including Major Baar-Baarenfels, and Dr. Draxler, is now behind Dr. von Schuschnigg.

The move is a sequel to the civil war between the two factions of the Heimwehr led by Prince von Starhemberg and Major Fey respectively. The Chancellor has settled the problem by a swift stroke of the pen.

STARHEMBERG'S PROCLAMATION

Appeal Made For Discipline

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Vienna, October 10.

Prince von Starhemberg issued a proclamation on Saturday to the Austrian Home Guard, which has been dissolved by an order of the Government, begging them to observe discipline and obey the authorities since "anyone who agitates against the state of its officials is a traitor to the Fatherland and the ideals of the Home Guard."

He also declared that Dr. Draxler has remained in the Government at his personal wish, and requested that members of the Home Guard, holding public offices, retain these.

In spite of the Prince's proclamation, a demonstration took place on Saturday afternoon in front of the Parliamentary Building, but was dispersed by the police.

Precautions were taken throughout Austria to prevent disorders when news of the abolition of the parliamentary organisation was published.

Following the proclamation, Prince von Starhemberg departed from Vienna and, according to reliable information, has left Austria.

PALESTINE UNREST TO END

Arabs Calling Off Strike

APPEAL BY RULERS FOR PEACE

Jerusalem, Oct. 10.

It is now expected that the Arab strike will be called off on Monday.

Following publication of the joint appeal of the Arab rulers, it is reliably understood that the text of the appeal will be issued separately. Each ruler will express deep concern as the present conditions in Palestine and call upon the Arabs to restore peace and end the bloodshed. Relying upon the goodwill of the British Government, which has been already declared, justice will prevail.

It is expected that the appeal will be proclaimed within the mosque of Omar in the presence of thousands of Moslems attending the commemorative services of Mahomed's miraculous ascent to heaven on the famous steed Buraq.

Arab leaders believe that the majority of Arabs will obey the rulers' appeal, but a small majority attracted by prospects of adventure may continue to roam the countryside.

The decision of the Arab Higher Committee to call off the strike on Monday followed three meetings this afternoon with the local National Arab Committees at which it was unanimously decided to accept the joint appeal for peace from Ibn Saud, the King of Iraq, and Emir Abdullah of Transjordan. The appeal from the fourth Arab ruler, Imam, of Yemen, is expected to arrive shortly.

The Arab Higher Committee will publish the appeal and manifesto to the Arab people to-morrow and call on the Arabs firstly to attend the places of worship, pray for the dead and ask God's help in the future, and then resume their normal pursuits.

LATE PREMIER OF HUNGARY

Dr. Julius Goemboes Buried

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Budapest, Oct. 10.

The funeral of the late Hungarian Premier, Goemboes, took place on Saturday. The service was held in a room of the Parliamentary Building, which was draped in black and adorned with a single white cross.

Imposing scenes were witnessed as prominent statesmen and representatives of various countries paid their last respects.

The black casket containing the mortal remains of the late Premier was draped with the Hungarian flag, and reposed on a high catafalque surrounded by a sea of flowers.

The Hungarian Regent, von Horthy entered the room followed by deceased's family after which a brief and simple funeral oration commenced.

The casket was then borne from the room to the strains of the funeral march, and a procession formed outside which wended its way through the city between lines formed by the militia and war veterans. Thousands of citizens stood bareheaded to pay their last respects to their beloved statesman.

Following the final blessing at the cemetery, the casket was lowered into the grave, while the National Anthem was played. A final salute was fired by the military band.

Aircraft Factories To Build More Engines

Rome, October 10.

The Cabinet reviewed the position of armed forces and decided, owing to the urgent need of certain supplies, to increase the hours of armament workers to sixty hours a week, besides the creation of new aerodromes at Po Valley, the Adriatic and Tuscan coasts, Sardinia and Sicily.

It is stated that the output of aeroplanes is satisfactory, but so far they are insufficient to meet existing plans. Therefore the large new factories will be exclusively devoted to the output of aeroplane engines.

PERSONNEL INCREASED

The number of the Air Force cadets will be doubled during the year.

The personnel of the Navy will be increased to 60,000 men.

The Cabinet considered the nation's military preparations as a whole being intensified with excellent results.

A new decree has been issued creating a consultative Air Council composed of high officers, scientists, industrialists and air experts whose function it would be to make recommendations regarding equipment, personnel and organisation of the Air Force.

It is estimated that the cost of the new aerodromes will be over £15,000,000.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST OVERCROWDING

London, Oct. 10.

In view of the emphasis recently laid by the Chancellor of the Exchequer and Minister of Health on the importance of improving physical fitness in health, special interest attaches to the figures compiled by the Ministry of Health on the progress of slum clearance schemes and campaign against overcrowding.

It is estimated that the total number of houses to be dealt with under the five-year slum clearance scheme is about 300,000. Clearance orders and compulsory purchase orders submitted by the local authorities to the Ministry of Health up to the end of September affected 149,291 houses and 643,741 persons resident therein. Steady progress with rehousing those affected by clearances is proceeding.

At the end of August there were 57,302 houses under construction. The total number of houses included in the rehousing proposals approved by the Ministry of Health is 172,420. The number of houses already completed is about 110,000.

In connection with the campaign against overcrowding, an investigation into the conditions prevailing in 7,000,000 houses out of the total of between 11,000,000 and 12,000,000 houses in the country is proceeding and returns have now been received by the Ministry of Health from practically all of the 1,500 local authorities in the country. It has been found that about 3.3 per cent. of houses investigated come within the official description of overcrowding.

LOCAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Ulster Rifles' Robust Play Against Club Wins Match

CHINESE OLYMPIC FOOTBALLERS MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE

Big Crowd At Caroline Hill

A full programme of local football league matches was decided over the week-end. Playing on the home ground at the Valley on Saturday, the Hong Kong Football Club seniors met with their first defeat at the hands of the Royal Ulster Rifles by three goals to one. Robust methods adopted by the military team won the day. Tempers were frayed in this game.

Kowloon Football Club suffered bad luck when they lost to the Kowloon Chinese before their own supporters by the only goal scored in the last few minutes of the game. The Royal Welch Fusiliers easily overcame the Chinese Athletic.

Thousands flocked to Caroline Hill yesterday afternoon to witness the football match played between the All-China Olympic soccer team and a local Chinese XI in aid of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's aeroplane birthday gift fund. The Olympic players, led by the versatile Lee Wai Tong, received thunderous ovation from the crowds that packed the stands and the hill-side overlooking the ground.

ROBUST METHODS BY RIFLES

What would otherwise have been an epic struggle was marred by frayed tempers when the Hong Kong Football Club met the Royal Ulster Rifles on Saturday on the Club ground. The result was a win for the soldiers by three goals to one.

The robust methods adopted by the military side, which at times appeared questionable, completely out of the smooth-working civilian side out of their stride, and the game in the latter stages degenerated to a rough and tumble affair.

At half-time the score stood at two goals to all against the Club. Ferguson having netted a great goal, and Stevens having converted a penalty given against Syd Strang for handling.

On resumption of play, the Club adopted more aggressive methods with the result that they found the net through Elliott, after Fowler had made a perfect opening.

Towards the end of the game, Ferguson drove in a hard shot, and although Rodgers had the ball well covered, he let it slip from his grasp into the net.

If any player was disappointed after the game, it must be Fowler. He opened the game with a spectacular run down the field to cross in a shot that had Connor completely beaten—but the shot hit the upright. Later he again sent in another unstoppable shot, but it again hit the upright!

Teams: Club—Rodger, Hill, S. Strang, Brown, Farrow, E. Strang, Fowler, Fleming Elliott, Wilson, Bickford, Rifles—Connor, Pickering, Stevens, McDonnell, Moore, Miller, Erwin, Campbell, Ferguson, Doherty, Harrigan.

KOWLOON HAVE HARD LUCK

An exciting finish to an otherwise colourless game was seen on Saturday when the Kowloon Chinese Football Club defeated the Kowloon Football Club by one goal to nil.

Siu Tin-lin, the goalkeeper for the Chinese, played a magnificent game, and repulsed the attacks of D. Knox and W. White.

Bowen helped tremendously in his position as full back for the Kowloon Football Club. During the closing minutes of the match the Chinese made a desperate attempt to reach their opponents' goal, and Lau Chung-sang, catching Bowen unawares, sent in a slow shot just out of each of the Kowloon custodian.

Teams: Kowloon—Minhinnett, Everest and Bowen; G. White, Bliss and Boyd; Eastman, Evans, D. Knox, V. White and Honniball. Kowloon Chinese—Siu Tin-lin, Kwok Ping-tung and Mak Sui-hon; Ho Cho-yin, Chan Hong-kwong and Lai Kwok-chui; Tang Kwong-sum, Lau Chung-sang, Wong Wing-hong, Chau Man-ai and Fung King-yue.

justified the optimism of the Fusiliers' selectors when the soldiers emerged winners by four goals to one.

The Fusiliers played very well. The outstanding player, Grindley, received good support from his men, although the distribution of Wanklyn was inclined to be a little reckless when pressed. Among the forwards Talbot, the Interporter, was outstanding.

Li Hung-ching leader of the attack was prominent, for the Athletic, but was hampered by lack of support from the intermediate line, while Chin Chi-fun and Lee Tak-kee in the inside positions appeared to become demoralised by the soldiers' defence and spent most of their time assisting their half-backs.

Teams: Fusiliers—Rowlands, Wheeler, Keating, Wanklyn, Grindley, Taylor, Parry, Dennis, Evans, Talbot and Hughes.

Athletic—Tam Kwab-kon; Lo Wai-man, Wong Sik-ping; Ng Tak-wen, Cheng Ying-kuen, Lo Wai-kuen; Lai Wai-dai, Li Hing-ching, Cheon Moon-wing, Chin Chi-fun, Lee Tak-kee.

Scores were as follows:—E. C. Fincher and W. C. Hung (Kowloon) beat A. G. Meise and J. du Pac de Marsoulles (Visitors) 6-3, 7-5, 7-5.

Mrs. Dvorjetz and Miss J. Massey (Visitors) beat Miss M. Griffiths and Miss A. Mackenzie (Kowloon) 6-4, 8-3, 6-0.

SATURDAY'S MATCHES

Playing against the best of the Shanghai Country Club, the Circle Sportif Francaise and the Russian Club, Hong Kong defeated the visitors in a somewhat mediocre exhibition of tennis at the Chinese R.C. on Saturday.

The visiting men gave a sound exhibition, but were by no means better than the average Colony "A" Division League players, with the exception perhaps of J. du Pac de Marsoulles, who gave a delightful, though impetuous display, partnered by Miss J. Massey.

In the mixed doubles, Figgis, of the visitors, made the best impression. He possessed a deadly service and was cool at all times. His partner, Mrs. Dvorjetz, the smallest of the Shanghai ladies, although the most powerful hitter, played a rousing game, although she was weak on her backhand.

The results were:—S. A. Rumjahn and Miss R. Rumjahn (Hong Kong) beat J. G. Forbes and Mrs. T. M. Burton (Visitors) 6-0, 8-1, 4-6.

I. J. Tak-cheuk and Mrs. Litton (Hong Kong) beat J. du Pac de Marsoulles and Miss J. Massey (Visitors) 4-6, 9-7, 6-2.

Tsui Wai-pui and Miss R. Perry (Hong Kong) beat A. G. Meise and Mrs. B. Krenov (Visitors) 4-6, 8-3, 6-3.

H. D. Rumjahn and Mrs. Chiu Chun-chiu (Hong Kong) beat T. G. Figgis and Mrs. Dvorjetz (Visitors) 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

through Howlett (2) completing his "hat-trick," and Darryl.

NAVY GO NAP

The Second Division match between the Royal Navy and South China at Causeway Bay, resulted in a 6-2 win for the sailors. Gould, the Navy inside-left, was in fine form, and received able support from Spencer and Buckland.

The outstanding players for the "Chinese" were Lee Pui-leung and Wong Kam-woon. Tin San defended very well.

RIFLES ON TOP

The Hong Kong Football Club juniors were defeated by the Royal Ulster Rifles by four to one at the Valley. The Rifles' shooting was accurate and the outstanding players were Farrell and Wilson.

NEW GOAL KICK LAW PROBLEM

To Be "Straightened Out" Next Season!

One of the problems which have arisen out of the new goal-kick rule was revealed recently by Mr. W. Pickford, senior vice-president of the Football Association, at a meeting of the Hampshire F.A. Council at Southampton.

Mr. Pickford said a referee wrote to the Council asking "what he should do if a player stood within the penalty area in a position to intercept the ball when a goal-kick was being taken. The referee pointed out that the new law laid it down that the ball from a goal-kick must be kicked direct into play "beyond" the penalty area, but at the same time, by an older law, an attacking player could stand not nearer than 10 yards to the ball.

This gave the player a margin of two yards in which to stand "inside" the penalty area, in which position he could intercept the goal-kick before it passed out of the penalty area. Should a player taking up such a position be warned for "ungentlemanly conduct?"

Mr. Pickford said that the player had an undoubted right to stand inside the penalty area, provided he was not nearer to the ball than 10 yards, and that no action could be taken against him by the referee for ungentlemanly conduct. Should the ball hit a player inside the penalty area and therefore not cross the penalty area line, the kick must be retaken, continued Mr. Pickford, who added that in like circumstances, should the ball after hitting the player travel beyond the penalty area, the goal-kick was a properly taken kick.

"Nothing can be done about the new law but," concluded Mr. Pickford "but, no doubt, it will be straightened out next season."

RECORD CROWD AT MAT FIGHT

Between Aguinaldo And Indian

BOUT DECLARED A DRAW

A record crowd gathered to watch the American "all in" wrestling, between Jeggat Singh and Young Aguinaldo at the Alhambra Theatre yesterday.

A poor show was given by Harman Singh and Arjun Singh when they fought under Indian rules. All through the match the latter had the better of Harman Singh. At one stage the fight was stopped because Arjun Singh had his foot on the other's neck and tried to pull him over. Quite a number of times both of them fell out of the ring.

The match was declared a draw. Young Aguinaldo and Jeggat Singh next entered the ring. It was wonderful at times how either of them ever got out of the various grips. The most thrilling was the scissor grip on the neck. The victim would gradually work his body round so that both hands were resting on the canvas, then he would stand on his head and twist his body in such a manner that his head would come but between the legs.

In the third round the Filipino had the better of the Indian. He commenced by hitting the Indian on the jaw with his elbow which knocked him to the ropes. Each in turn gave the other similar treatment. The Indian charged his opponent two or three times but the Filipino almost knocked the Indian out of the ring.

Twice in the whole bout the Indian picked up the Filipino and gung him down.

At one stage both men had each other in the toe lock, and when

SPANISH GOLD FOR FRANCE

Paris, Oct. 9.
Cases of gold in Government coins are now arriving daily from Spain on board French or Spanish steamers and planes, according to the "Figaro", which adds that the gold has been deposited in various banks in Toulouse and Paris. At the same time, so the paper adds, an account of 130 million francs has been opened at one of the American banks in Paris in the name of the new Spanish Ambassador. The paper is of the opinion that the action of France in taking charge of those gold plainly indicates prejudice in favour of one camp, and is therefore contrary to the non-intervention pact.

LEAGUE ECONOMIC REPORT

Geneva, Oct. 11.
"Never since the abandonment of the gold standard by Britain have we found ourselves in a situation which is so clear and so rich in hope for the future and in immediate possibilities," states the League Economic Committee's report, unanimously adopted to-day. The Committee asks the Governments not to confine themselves to the first measures by which they have accomplished the new monetary laws, but to enter into negotiations at the earliest possible moment, with a view to overhauling their whole commercial policy. Thus no suggestion as to a fresh economic conference is made, but the matter is left open for negotiation between the Powers concerned.

DUTCH NATIVE RUBBER DUTY

Batavia, Oct. 10.
The Netherlands East Indies export duty on native rubber has been raised to 52 guilders per 100 kilograms, effective from October 11.

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

A contract with a Japanese firm for 100,000 tons of manganese ore has been closed by the Payas Manganese Mining Company, Inc., according to an official of the company. Development work has been started, and about 500 labourers are working. It is reported.

An order with a German company is pending, the official said, and depends upon the results of an analysis being made by German chemists on the company's ore.

First exploration work on the company's property in Payas, municipality of Burgos, Ilocos Norte, was started in September, its prospectus states. The area in which the claims are located is adjacent to that from which the manganese exports of the Islands came during the World War.

Petronio Tolentino is now business manager of the company. Other officials are Smeon Tolentino, president; Alfredo O. Dagulo, vice-president; and general manager; Juan T. Llacuna, secretary-treasurer; Conrad Anderson, Walter Jensen, F. Aguilado, I. Barmachea, and S. F. Ocampo, directors.

The company has an authorized capital stock of $300,000; permission was granted by the Insular treasurer to offer for sale 1,645,000 shares of its stock at ten centavos a share.

COAL COMPANY LEASES MINE

A lease on an old Spanish coal mine in the Gato region of Sorogon, covering an area of 800 hectares, has been obtained by the Gato Coal and Power Company, according to J. C. Cowper, acting general manager. The directors of this company are Neil McLeod, president; Mr. Cowper, secretary-treasurer; and acting general manager; C. H. Sleeper, G. T. Herrman, Joseph Pastor, and L. T. Ona.

Preliminary development work will be started by Claude Russell, who has had considerable experience in coal mining, while the services of an expert engineer are being sought to handle the project efficiently.

It is reported that this mine was first worked by the Spaniards as far back as 1878, and that the grade of coal available is of excellent quality. A considerable quantity of the coal has been mined during the past two or three years, and has been left exposed to the weather. It has been found that the coal stands weathering without disintegration, and that it is not likely to ignite because of spontaneous combustion.

Analysis of this coal are said to show 5,356 calories per gram; ash, 5.47 per cent; sulphur, 1.66 per cent. Chemists who have analyzed it say that it is a sub-bituminous coal suitable for both marine and land purposes.

Work has been started on the property to clean out old shafts and galleries. Seven shafts have been sunk running from 65 to 135 feet in depth, and two galleries totalling 1,100 feet in length have been excavated. The thickness of the coal seam is said to be from two to seven metres.

Mr. Cowper's report states that considerable interest in the project has been shown by coal consumers of South China. A number of experts in the coal industry have visited the property, and seem to be optimistic as to its future.

In concluding his report Mr. Cowper states: "As this is a sincere attempt to develop one of the natural resources of the Philippine Islands, the company feels sure that it will be given support by both the government and commercial interests in its attempt to produce and market the product locally, as all tests to present show this to be as good a product as is being imported, and if success can be obtained by this company another local industry will have been started that will do much to help the Philippine Islands."

RESEARCH SHIP FOR NAVY

Keel To Be Laid This Month

BY HECTOR C. BYWATER.

"Daily Telegraph" Naval Correspondent.

I learn that the keel of the Navy's special surveying ship Research, recently ordered from Philip and Son Ltd., Dartmouth, is to be laid this month. She is designed to replace and carry on the work performed by the Carnegie, an American vessel operated by the Carnegie Institution of Washington, which was destroyed by fire at Samoa seven years ago.

The Admiralty Hydrographic Department held the continuance of this work to be of such importance to navigation that they obtained authority to build the Research. Her estimated cost is over £100,000, and she will take about two years to complete.

As one of her principal functions is to determine the vagaries of compass variation at sea, it is essential that she should be virtually a non-magnetic ship.

The hull, therefore, is to be of teak, and all frames, girders and fittings which would normally be of steel will be made of brass, bronze or other non-magnetic alloys. I understand that the total weight of ferrous metal in the whole ship will be less than 8cwt.

She is to be brigantine-rigged—two masts, the foremast square-rigged—and will do most of her cruising under sail, but she will be fitted with an auxiliary heavy oil motor of non-magnetic construction which will drive her at 8 knots. Including the scientific staff, she will have a complement of 31.

The first cruise of the Research, which will begin in the autumn of 1938, will be to the Southern Indian Ocean.

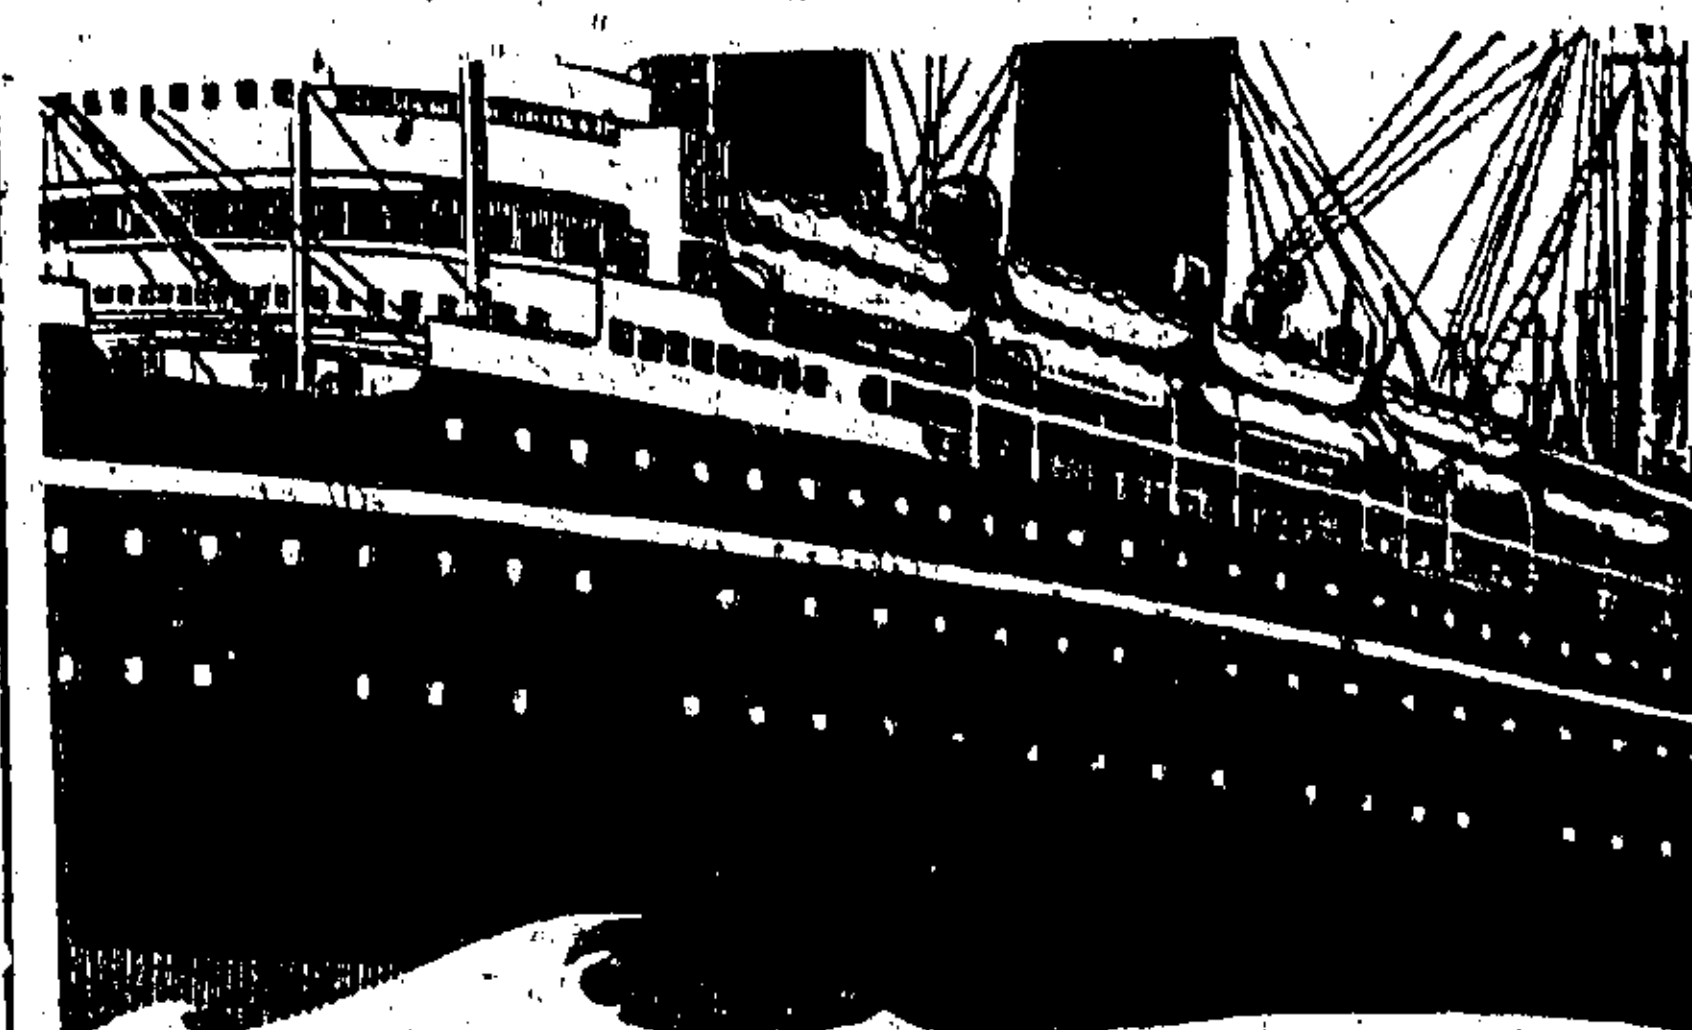

To some extent the construction and equipment of this novel vessel is an Anglo-American enterprise, for in designing the ship and her fittings the Admiralty has received valuable advice and help, including the loan of expert personnel, from the Carnegie Institution.

SHIPPING MOVEMENTS

The R.M.S. "Empress of Japan" (from Manila) is due here at 8.00 a.m. on the 14th October (Wednesday), and will berth at Kowloon Wharf. She will leave here for Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., via Shanghai, Kobe, Yokohama and Honolulu at noon on the 16th October (Friday).

The R.M.S. "Empress of Russia" left Yokohama on the 10th October (Saturday) at 3.00 p.m., is due at Vancouver on the 19th October (Monday) and leaves Vancouver on the 31st October (Saturday), and is due at Hong Kong on the 19th November (Thursday) at a.m.

The B.I. and Apar steam ship "Sirdhana" left Singapore for this Port on the 9th instant a.m. and is due here on the 14th instant a.m.

RETICENT ROTHERMERE

"I'm forming all sorts of opinions and meeting all sorts of people, and I'm mighty interested in all that I've seen and heard. Tonight I go on to Manila, and then back here. The boat arrives on Wednesday, and if you boys will come and have tea with me, I'll speak then. Even if I don't speak in the interviewer's sense of the word, come along and have tea and a talk."

QUICK-FIRE QUESTIONING

Like most people who have sampled of them, Lord Rothermere has no liking, even for the initial thrill, of typhoons.

When he was told that he might run into one, he became most mock-serious, and, glowering at his secretary, declared, "I thought as much! That's what I get for travelling with the worst man in London!"

Slapping his secretary heartily on the back, he turned with a radiant smile to the pressmen and fired question after question at us. From sampans and junks to mansions on the Peak; from streets and shops to lying and golf—he wanted to know in a flash all about those things which rushed through his very analytical and inquiring mind.

"I'll stay in Hong Kong for eight days after I've been to Manila," he explained, "and I'll have a good look round then. In the meantime, I'll take things quietly today. I haven't allowed myself even the luxury of an interview!" "Cheerio."

And one of the most famous publicists the world has ever known, mingled with the crowd leaving the ship—looking as unimportant and inconspicuous as only very great people can afford to look.

CONFUCIUS' BIRTHDAY

"GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN"
Known as the greatest philosopher and teacher of all ages, Confucius is remembered by the Chinese as the saviour of the country. To make sure that the great sage is "gone but not forgotten," the people throughout the whole of China, will be in fête and there will be much rejoicing in every home.

This is evidence that the trend of popular feeling is towards all that is good and wise in the teachings of Confucius, and it is a healthy and encouraging sign of the great future that is store for China and the Chinese.

TEACHING REVIVAL

It is noteworthy that there is general revival of Confucius' teachings throughout China, and it is believed that the works of Confucius and Mencius will help to rebuild the character of the Chinese youths, and thus pave the way for the moral re-birth of the Chinese nation.

At the head of this revivalist movement is the "New Life" organization with branches in all the different provinces, and owing to the alarming progress of Bolshevism and Nihilism and "Return to Nature" movements in Europe, Chinese educationalists and moralists are getting scared, and in order to counteract the demoralizing influence of such dangerous teachings, the "New Life" movement in China is trying hard to instill the healthy moral precepts of Confucius in the minds of modern youth, before it is too late.

Even after his death over 1,500 years ago, Confucius is still remembered by the Chinese as China's greatest sage and teacher.—Tse.

NEW PREMIER IN HUNGARY

Daranyi To Succeed Goemboes

Little Change In Cabinet

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special

Budapest, October 10.
The Hungarian Minister for Agriculture, Daranyi, who was appointed the deputising Premier during the illness of Dr. Goemboes, was named the Premier by the Regent, Admiral von Horthy, according to an official announcement issued on Saturday.

Dr. Koloman Daranyi is the son of the former Minister of Agriculture and has played an important and lengthy role in Hungarian political affairs. Following the Great War, during which he saw active service on the Russian-Rumanian fronts, he entered the political field and was elected to Parliament. He was appointed Secretary to the Council of Ministers. This position he retained during the Premierships of Count Bethlen and Count Julius Karalyi. He became Minister of Agriculture in Goemboes' Cabinet in 1935 and was instrumental in enacting the new forestation and settlement laws.

Since April he has presided over the Cabinet as deputy for Premier Goemboes.—Transocean News Service.

WAR MATERIALS FOR SPAIN

Grave Differences Among Powers

ITALIAN THRUST AT MOSCOW

London, Oct. 10.

It is evident that grave differences among the great European Powers, amounting to a crisis, arose at the meeting of the non-intervention committee to-day. The upshot, in the significant words of the communiqué, was an agreement to ask the respective Governments to furnish information relating to the treatment accorded to material destined for Spain by vessel calling at a port of a country that is party to the agreement.

Lord Plymouth, the Chairman, opening the morning meeting, alluded to the allegations received from the Spanish Government, which, if substantiated, he said, would constitute breaches of the agreement. Signor Dino Grandi (Italy) energetically denied the accuracy of the allegations.

It is understood that the withdrawal of Senhor Calheiros (Portugal) was effected despite strong efforts at dissuasion by Lord Stanhope.

ITALIAN CHARGES

When the Soviet communications were discussed Signor Grandi cited the alleged infractions of the agreement by the Soviets. He named three Soviet ships supposedly carrying as food camouflaged cargoes of ammunition, rifles and aeroplane parts.

Signor Grandi used words against Russia like "blackmail," "provocation" and "sabotage." He declared that if the Soviets were attempting to free themselves from the agreement they had no right to make unfounded charges in an attempt to throw the responsibility on others.

GERMAN OPINION

Prince von Bismarck (Germany) expressed the opinion that the Soviet communications were outside the competence of the committee, as they did not follow the rules prescribed by the procedure. The committee decided that it was premature, in the temporary absence of Portugal, to discuss the appointment of a committee of investigation.

PRESS ATTACKS

The proceedings were carried on against a background of violent press recriminations in various countries. The Italian and German newspapers are vehemently attacking Moscow.

The "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung" remarks that the obviously critical situation involves the danger of an explosion. The great Powers still have the opportunity to cut the glowing fuse laid by Moscow.—Reuter.

NO CHANGE IN POLICY

Budapest, Oct. 10.

The new Premier, Daranyi presented the Regent with a list of the members of the new Hungarian Cabinet on Saturday. It is similar to Goemboes' Cabinet, with the exception that Dr. Franz Marschall, who served for many years as Secretary in the Ministry of Agriculture, has been appointed to fill the ministerial post vacated by the new Premier.

The foreign policy of the new government will continue in the same channel since the Foreign Minister Von Kanya who shares the views of the late Premier, still holds the portfolio.—Transocean News Service.

GOERING'S VISIT

Budapest, Oct. 10.

General Goering visited the new Premier on Saturday, following which he had an audience with the Regent, Admiral von Horthy, which lasted for an hour. General Goering also had dinner with the new Premier.—Transocean News Service.

DOUBLE TENTH CELEBRATIONS

Shanghai, Oct. 10.

All China celebrated the Silver Jubilee of the Republic to-day, which was observed as a public holiday throughout the country.

A spectacular display of 100 aeroplanes and a review of 10,000 boy scouts featured the celebrations at Nanking, which was in festive mood.

After a meeting of commemoration at Dr. Sun Yat-sen's mausoleum Mr. Lin Sen, the President of China, gave a reception to the diplomats of 17 foreign Powers this morning. In the evening General Chang Chun, the Foreign Minister, is giving a banquet and ball to prominent Chinese and foreign people.

Otherwise the occasion was marked with a conspicuous lack of pomp and circumstance throughout the country.—Reuter.

FRANCE REDUCES IMPORT DUTY

Nanking, Oct. 9.

Owing to the favourable change in the exchange value of the franc, the Chinese minister has telegraphed that the French Government has reduced the customs duty on imports beginning from October 10.

The commission on bank remittances has been reduced by ten per cent.—Chinese Evening Press.

A Lisbon message states that the "Diario de Noticias" quotes a well-informed source, declaring that Portugal will in no case allow any form of foreign control or supervision.

NO ACTION

The non-intervention committee took no action on the Soviet communications as no concrete proposal was contained therein.

The bulk of the British press so far refrains from commenting, though the news columns emphasize the asperities and assert that, as typical of the temper of the meeting, Signor Grandi "had words" with Lord Plymouth.

The "Daily Telegraph" remarks that Britain is neither black nor red and is all the more resolved to be neither after watching the events of the past three months. The "Liberal News Chronicle" suggests that the non-intervention committee should call on both sides in Spain to conclude a truce, but if unanimity is not achieved within 48 hours, Britain must raise the embargo forthwith.—Reuter.
